Congressman Eric Cantor's Service Academies Nominations Summary Class of 2011

One of my most important responsibilities as your Congressman is nominating young men and women for admission to our country's Service Academies. The following summaries are brief overviews of the selection processes you are entering.

Admission to a Service Academy is a two-tiered process. First, the candidate must apply through the Academy directly and meet the minimum standards for admission set by the Academy itself. These standards include, among others, medical, physical and academic qualifications. The second tier in pursuing admission is the Congressional Nominations process.

An individual must meet the admissions requirements of the Academy as well as receive a Congressional Nomination in order to be offered an appointment to the Academy.

Applicants should direct any questions regarding the admissions process of a particular Academy to that Academy's Admissions office. Information can be obtained through the contact information below:

U.S. Air Force Academy (USAFA): <http://www.usafa.edu> or (719) 333-2520

U.S. Merchant Marine Academy (USMMA): <http://www.usmma.edu> or (516) 773-5391

U.S. Military Academy (USMA): <http://www.usma.edu> or (845) 938-4041

U.S. Naval Academy (USNA): <http://www.usna.edu> or (410) 293-4361

Guide to Nominations for USAFA, USMA, USNA

The President, Vice President, Members of Congress and some ROTC organizations have the authority to nominate persons for admission to USAFA, USMA and USNA.

As a Congressman, I am entitled to fill five vacancies at each Academy. These vacancies are "charged" to Virginia's Seventh District. I may only nominate young men and women to a particular Academy when a vacancy occurs in one of these charged slots, either by reason of graduation or withdrawal.

It is in the best interest of the District to spread out the charged slots at each Academy so that a young man or woman from the Seventh District will have the opportunity to fill at least one vacancy each year. I have spread out the charged slots, and thus, every year graduating high school seniors in the District can compete for admission to these Academies.

When a vacancy does occur, I may nominate up to ten candidates for admission. One nominee will be offered an appointment to fill the vacancy, and the other nominees, assuming that each meets the Academy's minimum requirements, are placed into a nationwide qualified candidate pool. At that point, it is left to the discretion of the Academy to choose candidates to fill the remaining slots in its incoming class.

My goal as a Congressman is to have as many young men and women from the Seventh District as possible admitted to the Academies. The only way I can accomplish that is by nominated highly qualified, committed candidates to each Academy.

Guide to Nominations for USMMA

Unlike the Academies described above, the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy uses state quotas to determine admission, rather than district quotas.

The Commonwealth of Virginia is entitled to five slots in each class of midshipmen at the Academy. Each Congressman may submit up to ten names per year for the Virginia “list.” The Virginia nominees then compete against one another for the five slots. The young men and women who will fill those slots are chosen by the Academy.

Once Virginia’s five slots are filled, the remaining nominees who meet the Academy’s minimum admissions standards are placed into a nationwide qualified candidate pool. At that point, it is left to the discretion of the Academy to choose candidates to fill the remaining slots in its incoming class.

Guide to Nominations for the U.S. Coast Guard Academy

Congressional nominations are not incorporated into the admissions process for the U.S. Coast Guard Academy. For more information regarding admission to the Academy, contact its Admissions office at (860) 444-8500.
